Rudolf's current project is the Füzér Castle's reconstruction, as he calls it: Living castle in Zemplén mountain. The mayor of the village gained finances at a European Union tender to develop the ruined castle into a centre of castle-tourism. The approach how Rudolf regards the monuments, can be called organic, but as he regards it: philosophy of living monuments. This complex approach consists of not just the protection of the building, but the social function of the building. (Miklós Sulyok: Survival exercise in Miskolc. In: Arrafelé ("That way..."), exhibition catalog, 2015)
